Intermediate Unit 1a(2)

Dynamic and stative verbs

Normally, he isn't well behaved.

But today he's being very well behaved.

Presentation

There are two types of main verbs: dynamic and stative.

Dynamic verbs

You use dynamic verbs to talk about actions or events. You can use them to talk about facts/routines and actions that are in progress:

I talk to my students individually once a term. (= routine) Sorry, I'm talking to a student right now. Can we talk later? (= action in progress)

Stative verbs

You use stative verbs to talk about states. These include talking about existence (be, exist), beliefs and opinions (know, think, understand) and possession (have got, belong):

I'm from England. (= existence)

I know what you mean. (= belief)

I've got one brother and two sisters. (= possession)

Some stative verbs are only used in the present simple and not in the present continuous:

Ask me. I know the answer! (don't say Ask me. I'm-knowing the answer!)

Speak more slowly. I don't understand English very well. (don't say Speak more slowly. I'm not understanding English very well.)

You seem distracted today. (don't say You're seeming distracted today.)

This house belongs to my grandmother. (don't say This house is belonging to my grandmother.)

I don't believe you! (don't say I'm not believing you!)

I'm sorry but I don't agree with you. (don't say I'm sorry but I'm not agreeing with you.)

You can use some stative verbs in both the present simple and the present continuous:

- in the present simple the verb describes a general state or situation:
 - Normally, he isn't well behaved. (= generally true) What do you think about the situation? (= general opinion)
- in the present continuous the verb describes a temporary state or new situation:

He's being very well behaved today. (= temporary situation)

I'm not sure. I'm thinking about it. (= in progress)

Changes in meaning

The meaning of some verbs can change because they can be both stative and dynamic, e.g. have:

Stative: I have a shower. (= I own a shower.)

Dynamic: I'm having a shower. (= I'm taking a shower at the moment.) I have a shower every morning. (= I take a shower every morning.)

Other verbs that can change their meaning include: come, love, appear, see and weigh.

The rules for using dynamic and stative verbs with the present simple or present continuous are also true for other tenses in the simple or continuous forms.
